Panhandle-Plains Student Loan Center (PPSLC) announces MyEd student loans Canyon, TX (August 2008)

PPSLC announces the launch of a new lender brand of Panhandle-Plains Student Finance Corporation (PPSFC) via a trustee relationship — MyEd student loans, LID #834395 is the new FFELP brand and demonstrates the continued commitment by PPSFC and PPSLC to their schools, parents, and student borrowers. Terry Langehennig, President and CEO of PPSLC stated, “the changes in the student loan capital markets and the recent terms and conditions of the Education Department’s programs to provided liquidity under the Ensuring Continued Access to Student Loans Act (ECASLA) have allowed both PPSFC and PPSLC to accelerate development of the PPSFC’s own lender brand which was a part of its long range plans to expand its availability to students and borrowers and for PPSLC to expand its servicing efforts. With MyEd student loans now available for Texas borrowers, we can serve our school customers with the preferred choice in lending and servicing.” “While the requirements and long term servicing of ECASLA loans is still being developed by the Department of Education, we pledge to provide the very best in loan originations and servicing to our borrowers and customers”, stated Langehennig.

Created as the FFELP student loan brand of PPSFC to be administered by PPSLC, MyEd student loans enters the $55 billion student loan market to offer a uniquely seamless process from origination of the loan thru servicing by PPSLC. Admired for its outstanding customer service, PPSLC is a trusted, known, and preferred servicer by many Texas schools. Additionally, the MyEd student loans website provides a variety of resources for early awareness, budgeting and college planning.
